WORKING AGREEMENT

between

College of Chemistry and Molecular Engineering
Peking University
Beijing, China

and

The College of Letters and Sciences, Division of Math and Physical Sciences of the University of California,
Davis, USA

The Division of Mathematical and Physical Sciences (MPS) in the College of Letters and Science of the University of California, Davis, (UC Davis) and the College of Chemistry and Molecular Engineering (CCME) of Peking University (PKU) agree to cooperate in regard to international training programs based on the principle of reciprocity.

This Working Agreement (WA) serves as a legal document for MPS and AS to establish and develop bilateral relationships under the auspices of an Agreement of Cooperation between Peking University and UC Davis signed in 2007. This WA will also help enhance educational and research processes at both institutions and thereby expand the academic spectrum and cultural awareness between the institutions’ respective staff and students.
Article I. It is agreed that UC Davis and Peking University will work together to facilitate sabbaticals, visiting professorships, research collaborations, exchange of postdoctoral researchers and graduate students. The parties agree to provide facilities normally required to visiting scholars.

Article II. Post-doctoral Researchers and Graduate Students who have completed required coursework, may be admitted to interested research groups associated with MPS and CCME upon approval by the oversight committee. The research project for the exchange students will be determined individually for each student by the two institutions.

Article III. Beida and UC Davis are responsible for the pre-academic preparation of the exchange researcher and graduate students from the respective institution. Candidates will have a working knowledge of English, as English is the language of collaboration. Exchange researchers and graduate students will be trained for social understanding so that they can more easily acclimate to the atmosphere and conditions of research at the host institution.

Article IV. UC Davis International Programs will facilitate matters associated with housing and immigration procedures.

Article V. The home institution will be responsible for identifying financial support including possible research assistantships and the host institution supplements for cost-of-living differentials.

Article VI. It is agreed that the fields of interest for training include, but are not limited to molecular and nano-sciences and are not limited to MPS and CC.

Article VII. Home institutions will be responsible to cover international travel expenses of students from the home institution, and host institutions will be responsible for the expenses associated with the collaborative research project conducted there, as well as the assignment of laboratory space for researchers.

Article X. Nothing in this Memorandum shall diminish the full autonomy of either institution, nor will any constraints be imposed by either upon the other in carrying out the agreement.

Article XI. This WA is effective for a period of four years from the date of signature. It may be extended with the written agreement of both parties and subjected to revision by mutual consent. Any necessary changes to the WA or early termination of this agreement require written notice six months in advance. In case of early termination, both sides are requested to take proper measures to support on-going students to complete their study.

Article XII. An Oversight Committee formed by Dean Winston Ko (UC Davis) and Dean GAO Song (PKU) will coordinate the activities under this agreement. The annual work plan will be approved and coordinated by the oversight committee.

Article XIII. It is understood that all necessary support will be made available to facilitate the implementation of this agreement.

For the College of Letters and Science, Division of Mathematical and Physical Sciences, University of California, Davis

---

Professor Winston Ko
Dean, Mathematical and Physical Sciences

29/5/2007

For the College of Chemistry and Molecular Engineering, Peking University

---

Professor GAO Song
Dean, College of Chemistry and Molecular Engineering

29/5/2007
AGREEMENT OF COOPERATION

BETWEEN

PEKING UNIVERSITY
Yiheyuan Str. 5, Beijing 100871, China

AND

THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
on behalf of the DAVIS CAMPUS
One Shields Avenue
Davis, CA 95616
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The Regents of the University of California, on behalf of the Davis Campus, and Peking University have entered into an Agreement of Cooperation in order to further the development of basic scientific and technological research, and graduate and undergraduate education at the two (2) institutions. This general agreement between the two (2) institutions should be implemented by one or more Working Agreement(s) between subunits of the institutions adopted as amendments to the Agreement of Cooperation.

AGREEMENT OF COOPERATION NUMBER 2007-15 ENTERED INTO BY PEKING UNIVERSITY HEREAFTER REFERRED TO AS PEKING UNIVERSITY REPRESENTED BY PROF. XU ZHIHONG, PRESIDENT OF PEKING UNIVERSITY AND BY THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, ON BEHALF OF THE DAVIS CAMPUS, HEREAFTER REFERRED TO AS UC DAVIS, REPRESENTED BY DR. LARRY N. VANDERHOEF, CHANCELLOR OF THE DAVIS CAMPUS.
DECLARATIONS

I. Peking University Declares:

A. Founded in 1898, Peking University was originally named the Imperial University of Peking. It was the first comprehensive national university in China. The University became a more comprehensive university focusing on both the humanities and the sciences, with an added emphasis on research. With the incorporation of the former Beijing Medical University, a completely new Peking University was formed in April 2000.

B. Today, Peking University consists of natural sciences, applied sciences, engineering sciences, as well as the humanities, social sciences, management sciences, linguistic sciences, education studies, and a variety of other fields.

II. UC Davis Declares:

A. That it is one of the ten campuses of the University of California, an institution created by the State of California in 1868 to impart higher education and to plan and carry out research programs for the purpose of the preservation and extension of knowledge, including the awarding of advanced degrees at the M.A., M.S., Ph.D., and professional level. It was created by the Organic Act of 1868, which established it with appropriate judicial and financial support at the State level, and as a Land Grant Institution of the United States under the Morrill Act of 1862. Its chief campus officer is the Chancellor.

B. That, in order to accomplish its mission, it is organized into the College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, the College of Engineering, the College of Letters and Science, College of Biological Sciences, the Graduate School of Management, the School of Education, the School of Law, the School of Medicine, the School of Veterinary Medicine, Graduate Studies, the Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Agricultural Cooperative Extension.

III. Both Parties Declare:

A. That the institutions are united by common interests and objectives in academic, scientific, and cultural affairs.

B. That these institutions are the ones which, by reason of their essence, ends and objectives are called upon to establish channels of communication that will facilitate intellectual interaction;
C. That for the reasons above, the institutions believe it advantageous to promote their academic ties by entering into an academic, scientific and cultural Agreement of Cooperation;

D. That, because of mutual benefits to the institutions in the advancement of research and education through the scholarly educational, scientific, technological and cultural contributions of each, it is appropriate and advantageous to the institutions to enter into this Agreement of Cooperation.

CLAUSES

I. The objective of this Agreement of Cooperation is to increase the academic, scientific and cultural relations between Peking University and UC Davis in identified areas where there is mutual interest in establishing Working Agreements.

II. Under this Agreement of Cooperation, cooperative work may be undertaken by subunits of the institutions. A Working Agreement between the respective subunits may be executed as an amendment to this Agreement of Cooperation, and will include:

A. Designation of the participating institutional subunits (e.g. Colleges, Schools, Divisions, Departments and Programs);

B. Designation of one or more persons in each institution who will serve as program leader(s) for the Working Agreement; and

C. General description of the kinds of cooperative work and activities to be undertaken.

II. For each Working Agreement, the program leaders will be responsible for developing an annual program plan, including a description of the work and activities to be undertaken and the financial arrangements to support them. The annual program plan will require approval by the chief administrative officer of each institution or the officer's designated representative.

IV. The financial stipulations that will apply to the exchange of academic personnel are as follows:

When the researcher or teacher goes to the other institution at the host institution's request, the host institution will be responsible for the international travel costs and living expenses in accordance with its internal regulations. In all other circumstances, the institution of origin will be responsible for the international travel costs and living expenses incurred. Other financial arrangements relating to such matters as health insurance and tuition will be addressed in Working Agreements.

V. Access to emergency medical care for researchers, teachers and students will be based on the health care programs available at the host institution. The cost of medical/health services will be the responsibility of the visiting researchers, teachers, graduate and undergraduate students through the home institution (see IX below).

VI. Each institution will take steps to:
A. Publicize the opportunities available under this Agreement of Cooperation and promote the development of cooperation;

C. Establish a review process for approval and evaluation of programs.

VII. The institutions, under the auspices of this Agreement of Cooperation, may jointly sponsor conferences, short courses, regular courses, seminars and symposia, as well as exchange publications and other didactic and research materials.

VIII. The present Agreement of Cooperation is for three (3) years, and it or any of its parts may be modified or terminated by written consent of both parties who will comply with the obligations that might be in effect on the date of termination.

X. Regularly employed personnel, while involved in this Agreement of Cooperation, remain subject to the rules and regulations of their own institutions in all matters of employment, benefits, medical and life insurance, employee rights, etc.

X. The Agreement of Cooperation does not, in and of itself, obligate either Peking University or UC Davis to any financial expenditures not explicit in the above. Such obligations, if any, will be made as part of the Working Agreements and annual program plans that may be developed under this Agreement of Cooperation. Both parties hereby agree to comply with each and every obligation contained in this document and all those that might be in effect on the date of termination of the Agreement of Cooperation.

Having read the present Agreement of Cooperation, and being fully aware of the content and scope of each and every one of its clauses, the parties hereby affix their signatures to the present document.

PEKING UNIVERSITY

By /s/ Ku Zhichong
President

Date January 2007

THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

By /s/ Larry N. Vanderhoef
Chancellor

Date June 1, 2007